SOCIAL JUSTICE AND PEACE STUDIES

Effective September 1, 2015, the following courses will be introduced.

Social Justice and Peace Studies 3380F/G: Justice and Alternative Economic Systems

An advanced exploration of the main philosophical debates over what a just and free society should look like. We investigate the strengths and weaknesses of contemporary capitalism, and contrast it with a range of economic alternatives including social democracy, state-socialism, market socialism, universal caregiving, workplace democracy, and basic income.

Prerequisite(s): Interdisciplinary Studies 2240F/G, or 1.0 course at 2200 level.
3.0 hours, 0.5 course
(King's)

Social Justice and Peace Studies 3381F/G: Democracy and the Economy

The democratic ideal defines our times, but to what extent should democracy exist in the economy? In this course students investigate whether the dominant capitalist institutions – the state, market, workplace, media, etc. – foster or undermine democracy. We pay close attention to problems as well as concrete alternatives for economic democracy.

Prerequisite(s): Interdisciplinary Studies 2240F/G, or 1.0 course at 2200 level.
3.0 hours, 0.5 course
